Wanting It To Happen

You accomplish something and Time comes in.
So forget it, at least for a while. If there's a payoff, return, 'll arrive

when you don't expect a thing, mired at point of fact in the day-after-day.
       So make a little toot.
       Expose yourself to boot,

then again, catch the drift and bite the fuckin bullet